His Holiness, the Sankaracharya of Kanchi Kamakoti Peetam, Kancheepuram would be present during the Kumb celebrations to culminate into Kumbhabhishekam at Shri Siddhi Ganesh Mandir located in DLF Citi Phase IV, Gurgaon on February 07, 2007.

Shri Siddhi Ganesh Cultural Society (Regd.) with the divine blessing of Sankaracharyas of Kanchi Kamakoti Peetam, Kancheepuram, was entrusted with the sacred responsibility of establishing Shri Siddhi Ganesh Mandir, a destination and religious complex for the people of Gurgaon and NCR Delhi.

The mandir now close to completion of first phase of construction would celebrate the consecration of idols of Lord Ganesh, Lord Shiva, Goddess Kamakshi, Navagrahas and Adi Sankarar on the auspicious day of 'Kumb' on February 07, 2007. Through Feb 04-07, 2007, series of poojas (during mornings and evenings) and havans have been organized to celebrate this important occasion.

Built over a sprawling area of 10,000 sq ft spread over 4 floors, the land for this holy site was allotted by HUDA to Kanchi Kamakoti Peetam and the construction of the mandir has been executed in less than a year with the unflinching and passionate support from the people of Gurgaon and NCR Delhi. The mandir that has been constructed will be one of the finest examples of religious architecture to be present in North India.

Soon after the completion of first phase of construction, the religious complex will be much more than a mandir - it will be a center for spiritual fulfillment, charitable activities, centre for promotion of art and culture besides various religious activities. It will be a place of Bhakti, education and tranquility where common people can gather to meditate, worship and cleanse their souls in an environment of peace and love.

The blessed mandir project was conceived and implemented by the Kanchi Srimatam with the close involvement and support of local institutions and residents under the overall management and supervision of the Shri Siddhi Ganesh Cultural Society, a charitable, spiritual and cultural organization founded with the blessings of His Holiness Sankaracharya of Kanchi Kamakoti Peetam.

The devotees can visit the mandir website at <http://www.siddhiganesh.org/> to apprise themselves and remain informed of the developments at the mandir complex.
