

New Remote Control in Pure Gold; Lantic Systems Delivers the Most Expensive Remote Control in the World

It is probably the world's most expensive remote control on the market - at a price in excess of USD 55,000 - which is compared to the standard remote control retailing from USD 1,050.

Risskov, Amsterdam, IND, 2007-11-15 12:45:28 (IndiaPRwire.com)

The Danish hi-tech manufacturer Lantic Systems, which is specialized in developing high end integrated entertainment systems, has designed a remote control in pure gold.

It is probably the world's most expensive remote control on the market - at a price in excess of USD 55,000 - which is compared to the standard remote control retailing from USD 1,050.

The new remote control - Gold RC1 - was presented Nov. 13 at the METS 2007 Exhibition in Amsterdam, Holland - the worlds biggest marine equipment trade show.

Lantic Systems is ready to deliver Gold RC1 from December 2007 and the first orders have already been received.

Modeled after the original RC1 from Lantic Systems, the Gold RC1 offers the same sleek form factor and cool metallic finish and ease of use that have made the RC1 one of the hottest remote controls on the market today.

The Gold RC1 is as well as in design as in function the centre of the Lantic Entertainment system which offers control over TV/video/dvd, music/CD, internet, e-mail, CCTV, burglary alarm, lights, curtains, air-conditioning and surveillance of navigation systems etc.

This is a unique technology which matches the other integrated state-of-the-art management and entertainment systems, which Lantic Systems is specialized in developing for the mega yachts and the exclusive homes worldwide.

(ACN Newswire)

- END -

About Lantic-Systems

Lantic Systems combines control of information, surveillance and entertainment systems into one powerful and easy-to-use management system. Subtle flat screen monitors and elegant compact touch screen panels, placed at locations of your choice, provide access to all the information you need to create an exceptional experience.

A high-resolution photo for free editorial use is available on Lantic Systems' homepage, <http://www.lantic-yachting.com/default.aspx?AreaID=60>

For more information, Please contact:

Lars Stenfeldt Hansen

Managing Director - Lantic-Systems