An SSL certificate authority (CA) is an authority in a network which issues digital certificates to organizations or people after validating their authenticity and manages security credentials. Abbreviated as CA, Certification Authority is a trusted third-party organization or company. The role of the CA is to issue an unique Certificate after taking the guarantee of the individual that he or she is the real person and is authorized to get the SSL certificate. CAs are a significant component for data security and electronic commerce as they guarantee that the two parties exchanging information are really who they claim to be and the data will be transferred safely.

SSL Certificates are the basic need for each website today as people are getting smart and concerned about their online security. Most of the online customers look for the padlock icon and 'https' prefix in the address bar of their browser before submitting personal information and credit card details etc. Your visitor may leave your website without making any purchase due to absence of SSL and move to your competitor.
