

DQS India launches new websites on the subject of CMMI®

DQS India, the SEI Authorized Transition Partner for providing CMMI Assessment and Training Services, has launched three websites on the internet for the advantage of the practitioners in the IT industry specially for those who are looking at a sharper focus on implementing the software engineering best practices during the development of processes and products.

New Delhi, Delhi, IND, 2008-05-01 12:58:49 (IndiaPRwire.com)

DQS India, the SEI Authorized Transition Partner for providing CMMI Assessment and Training Services, has launched three websites on the internet for the advantage of the practitioners in the IT industry specially for those who are looking at a sharper focus on implementing the software engineering best practices during the development of processes and products. The URL www.cmmifaonline.com has been designed to capture the queries of the Software Engineering Practitioners on the subject of CMMI related to assessment and training.

The URL askcmmiappraiser.blogspot.com is a blog to be operated by Rajendra Khare, SEI Authorized CMMI Lead Appraiser, High Maturity SCAMPI Lead Appraiser and SEI Authorized CMMI Lead Instructor. This blog will give a focused, usable and constructive inputs to the CMMI Queries raised. The URL www.cmmi-toolkit.com has been designed to provide a customized toolkit solution for those organizations looking for an optimized solution.

Note: CMMI® is the registered trademark of Software Engineering Institute, Carnegie Mellon University, USA

- END -

For more information, Please contact:

Rajendra Khare
MD - DQS India
91-11-27025910
91-11-27025956

You can also visit www.dqsindia.com for more information.