Radware (NASDAQ: RDWR), the leading provider of integrated application delivery solutions for business-smart networking, today announced that it has joined the Juniper Networks J-Partner Solutions Alliance Program. The interoperability of Radware's AppDirector application delivery controller and the Juniper Networks Secure Access SSL VPN appliances and Unified Access Control (UAC) solution provide customers with a more comprehensive application delivery solution.

'Juniper partners with companies like Radware to deliver high-performance networking solutions that customers require,' said Doug Erickson, director of worldwide alliance and channel development at Juniper Networks. 'We look forward to providing our customers and partners with solutions that deliver high-availability, maximum performance and comprehensive security.'

Juniper's high-performance infrastructure delivers fast, reliable, secure access to services and applications over a single network. Radware's AppDirector application delivery controller provides the scalability and performance necessary to maximize IT investments and help to ensure productivity is not compromised. By combining these unique strengths, the joint solution provides customers with an application-aware network that offers application availability, optimized end user response time and productivity, and a fully secured application delivery infrastructure.

'We are very excited by the opportunity to team with the market leader in high-performance networking,' stated Yossi Vardi, Vice President Global Business Development, Radware Ltd. 'The value proposition of our joint solutions meets customers' requirements for availability, performance and security, and provides a scalable cost-effective solution for future growth with full investment protection.'
