

Geek IT Stores all set to launch Wi-Fi enabled laptops for 250 USD !!!

Geek IT Stores, Taiwan based manufacturer is all set to launch laptops with Wi-Fi facility.

Mumbai, Maharastra, October 14, 2008 /India PRwire/ -- Geek IT Stores is launching India's First Wi-Fi enabled laptop with pre-loaded software this November with the much awaited M8 mobile phone dubbed as "I-Phone Killer"

"We want the Indian middle class customer to choose our laptop over home PC", stated Mr.Amit Nayak, CEO Geek IT Stores. The laptop will be exclusively distributed through Geek franchisee network in class C cities of India & Bangladesh.

Geek strategy is to offer these entry level laptops in Middle East & South East Asian Market. According to IDC, notebook shipments, including low-cost PCs, are expected to hit 145 million units this year, up 34.5 percent from last year as consumer demand remained strong in Europe and Latin America despite a slowdown in the U.S. market.
