

Planning a party or an event ? Better get online on partypotato.com and reduce your hassles.

You may have come across a situation where you are given/taken a responsibility of planning an event or a party, you wonder how do you gonna manage it? You do not know where to get the required services from and that too at a good rate and quality. How to manage the guest list? Which party themes would create the best ambience and how much time and effort is it going to take out of you..... All such and many more questions come to mind and a Pune based start-up company is all committed to make your life easy! Here is what they are doing.....

Pune, Maharashtra, August 23, 2009 /India PRwire/ -- A Pune based start-up, RB Web Services Pvt. Ltd. has come-up with all-in-one solution for your event or party needs. May it be scouting for a perfect party or marriage hall in town or identifying a best caterer or finding those hidden artists like magicians, choreographers or simply to decide what decoration to be done partypotato.com comes to your rescue. It is aimed at not only finding a list of service providers as other directory services but actually help you short-list the best suitable one based on the details of each service provider they keep on their web portal.

However just finding the right service providers does not make a complete event plan, therefore, partypotato.com also provides a party planner tool, which will help you select the services you need, keep a track of your budget, create nice invitations and send them to your guests. You can also track the RSVP for the guests and be a precised planner.

When we talked to the founder, Rahul Bhatewara, he also mentioned that this is just the initial phase and there is lot more coming to make the web portal as simple to use as possible plus adding more value added services in this space. The company, is also working on franchising model and is in a process of inviting proposals from potential associates to launch it in multiple cities.

So when you plan the next birthday party for your kid or planning a wedding or a corporate or team event get online to www.partypotato.com use the tool and make your life easy and enjoy your party thoroughly!

Notes to Editor

About partypotato.com

We are an Internet company and have launched a web portal called partypotato.com. This web portal is into online event management space and offer a FREE party planner tool to the website users. You can find all the required services for your event or party right from a party hall, catering, decoration to magician and other artists. As a partypotato.com user you can also earn fabulous discount on these services. Partypotato.com also enables you to plan the complete event online, with budgeting, online invitations with great looking templates and you can track RSVP for your guests too. At partypotato.com event or party planning becomes more of fun than hassle! Go on and vist us! >> www.partypotato.com

For more information, please contact:

Rahul Bhatewara
director